

Explore Your International Hunting Opportunities!

We believe that Huntin' Fool members represent an elite portion of the hunting population. Whether you are dedicated to do-it-yourself hunts, or a client that prefers to go guided, we know that if you're a Huntin' Fool member, you expect the best information, the best service, and the best hunting opportunity that you can find.

We have partnered with Link's Wild Safaris as our exclusive provider of International hunts because we believe that they will meet and exceed your expectations. Few people have traveled the globe to hunt and fish more than Jay Link. We believe that his experience uniquely qualifies him to identify the 'best of the best' among international outfitters. We've also met personally with Link's agents and watched them work tirelessly to match the client's expectations and budget with an outfitter that will live up to both. We're confident that your international hunting dreams are in safe hands with Link's Wild Safaris.

We've highlighted some hunts here that are of special interest to us but if you don't see what you're looking for, give us a call for a truly comprehensive list of hunting opportunities around the world.

► JAY LINK

Jay's extensive experience in business management coupled with his passion for hunting and fishing in all corners of the globe are an ideal pairing for clients in search of phenomenal outfitters and a booking process that leaves no stone unturned.

► CINDY BOYCE

Cyndy's long-term involvement with conservation efforts and her own personal passion for international travel and hunts have uniquely equipped her for her role at Link's where she takes great pride in making sure that Link's clients are completely satisfied with the hunts they book through their agency.

► TOMMY THOMPSON

Tommy's 20 years of honorable service in the US Navy have equipped him to handle the ins and outs of international travel and an ability to ask the right questions as his clients book and plan their hunts.

Collectively, the Link's team brings extensive international travel experience, passion, and hunting knowledge to our community of Huntin' Fool members.
